

hidden by the grapes is a trio hailing from graz, austria. the band is known to describe their style as post-everything while others would say they play indie or alternative. their music draws influence from post-punk or post-rock but generally speaking it is very hard to include hidden by the grapes in a specific subgenre. using three voices, a synthesizer and a keyboard originally intended to be played by little children the band definitely does not fit into the typical rock-trio cliché. the debut album "noise-operated jazz" received early praise from critics who found the record "really refreshing". a 7" vinyl disc was later released on their own label "sooder records" as split with the post-rockers lambda. a second full-length release is due for 2012 release on the well-known australian label pumpkin records.

hidden by the grapes played over 200 concerts in austria, belgium, croatia, czech republic, germany, hungary, slovakia and slovenia.
